1.1 The Coronet Lists

Note: This will always be the final piece of business of opening court.

1.1.1 Opening

HERALD: Their Highnesses call LISTS, Tir Righ's Minister of Lists, before Them.

PRINCE: Minister of Lists, the hour draws nigh, are the Lists complete?

LISTS: They are, Your Highness.

PRINCE: Then please close the lists, as we wish to commence the Tournament of Succession.

LISTS: By your leave then, Highness, I will do so.

List Minister reverences and exits court.

1.1.2 Procession of Branches

HERALD: Let the baronies, shires and cantons, ports and colleges of the principality now assemble and present themselves to PRINCE and PRINCESS, Prince and Princess of Tir Righ.

In order of precedence, the groups of Tir Righ are announced up the aisle. The representatives will come up the aisle as they are announced, reverence the Coronet and then array themselves back down the edges of the aisle, alternating sides. See Notes to the Herald section for more.

1.1.3 Presentation of Combatants

HERALD: Your Majesties (if present), Your Highnesses, for Your inspection and approval now come the combatants for the Coronet of Tir Righ. Combatants! Come before your Prince and declare your name and that of your Prospective Consort.

At this point, if the Heavy Champion is entering the Coronet Lists, he will respectfully give the Spear of State to His Highness, salute Their Highnesses and then join the procession of Combatants.

The procession of Combatants together with the Lady/Lord whose honour they promote, their banner bearers, and members of their households (e.g.: a knight's squires) shall now approach the thrones, be introduced, reverence and go to their places on the Chivalry or non-Chivalry sides of the aisle. See Notes to the Herald section for full directions.

If desired, at this point the procession of Tournament Officials (Marshals, Heralds) shall occur.

Once the Grand March/Processional has been completed...

HERALD: People of Tir Righ! See here the entrants in the Coronet lists of our glorious Principality. Great is the honour of this list, for the victor and their inspiration shall wear the Coronets and take the Thrones of the Principality of Tir Righ.

You, who would enter here into honourable combat, by your courtesy and valour, show forth now the renown of these lands. Let brave deeds and chivalrous conduct prove you worthy of the honour you seek and the favour you bear to the greater glory of your inspiration.

1.1.4 Confirmation of Tournament Style / Conventions of Combat

HERALD: Let MARSHAL , Earl Marshal of Tir Righ, come now before Their Highnesses.

PRINCE: Lord Marshal, what are the conventions of combat that shall be observed in these Lists?

MARSHAL: (informs list and populace of tournament style, weapons conventions, double kill conventions, rules of the list, introduces the bye fighters, plus anything else the combatants need to know for the day.)

PRINCE: Thank you, Lord Marshal.

Marshal reverences and exits court.

1.1.5 The Oath of Combat

HERALD: Combatants and Consorts, hear now the words of your Prince and Princess.

PRINCE: (speaks words of advice and wisdom to the combatants and consorts about the upcoming tournament)

PRINCESS: (speaks words of advice and wisdom to the combatants and consorts about the upcoming tournament)

HERALD: Having heard the conventions of combat for this tournament, and mindful of the Rules of the Lists, do each of you swear to abide by these Rules and conventions during these Lists?

COMBATANTS: I so swear.

PRINCESS: And do you each have an Inspiration, who is acceptable according to the laws of Our Principality, and whose favour you shall bear in these Lists, who shall reign beside you as your Consort should you be given victory this day?

COMBATANTS: I do.

HERALD: Gather now before your Prince and Princess for the Oath of Combat.

The PRINCE and PRINCESS hold the SPEAR OF STATE in front of them. All COMBATANTS and CONSORTS lay their hands either on the Spear itself or on the shoulders of those in front of them.

PRINCE: Then hear now the Oath of Combat We would have you swear.

HERALD: Do you, Combatants and Consorts swear, by this, Boar's Tooth, the Great Spear of State of Tir Righ, symbol of the might Tir Righ, that should you be given victory this day you can and will fulfill the obligations of a Prince or Princess of Tir Righ, and that you will rule justly, in accordance with the laws and customs of our kingdom and principality, to the utmost of your abilities, for so long as you may reign?

COMBATANTS and CONSORTS: I so swear.

HERALD: Do you further swear that, should you prove victorious this day, you will swear fealty to Their Majesties of An Tir, and to Their successors to Their Thrones, maintaining for Them Their lands of Tir Righ?

COMBATANTS and CONSORTS: I so swear.

HERALD: Then, let each of you prove by your skill and strength alone, the worth and virtue of those whose favour you bear, either in victory or in honourable defeat. Rise now and return to your places.

HERALD: Let any of the populace who desire come forth now to bestow your favors upon these combatants.

1.1.6 Balancing of the Sides and Honour Challenges

While the populace is bestowing favours or wishes upon the fighters, the Lord Marshal should confer with Their Highnesses regarding the numbers of each side, belted and unbelted.

Once the favour bestowing is ended and attention is returned to the Court, His Highness will then invite sufficient number of unbelted combatants to the belted side to even up the first round of combat. If there is an uneven number on the belted side, the last fighter on that side shall be given the bye round. While this balancing of sides is the responsibility of His Highness the Prince, He should consider inviting His Princess, Their Majesties, or any other noble or royal whom He trusts to assist.

When the sides are even, the unbelted combatants, starting with the lowest ranked fighter, will offer challenge to the combatants on the belted side as they see fit. This will continue until all combatants on both sides of the aisle have been challenged.

Per the desires of the Prince, as each pairing of combatants is settled, they shall together go report their first fight to the List Table or shall wait in line until all challenges have been made.

1.1.7 Dismissal

The Herald watches for last challenge to have been given and on their way to the Lists table...

HERALD: As all challenges have now been issued and accepted, Combatants, you are released to prepare yourselves for combat. The first round will commence in (one half hour / or at time specified by Their Highnesses.)

Thus recesses the Court of Their Highnesses.

Marshals to the field! Heralds to the field! Let the Lists begin!

Notes for the Herald – Coronet Lists

Grand March:

The Order of the Grand March for Tir Righ can be found in section 7.2

Heralds

- Two heralds will be needed for the top of court for the Grand March. These heralds will have a two-fold job. First they will ensure the banner bears know where to go stand after they have been introduced and revered the Coronet. Second, they will receive the cue cards (pre-completed with fighting titles, names - phonetically spelled), of both combatant and consort from the combatants and announce the combatant and their inspirations during the processional.

Groups:

- Ensure all Tir Righ group representatives are gathered together in the order of their group's precedence along with their banner.
- GROUP Herald will introduce each group, providing the group's name. Banner bearer will approach throne, reverence and go to place as directed by line heralds.

Combatants and Inspirations:

- Ensure all combatants and their inspirations are gathered in order of precedence in preparation for the presentation of combatants in the lists. Order of precedence may be either strict OP order or OP order with the households of each knight immediately following them. An alternative is reverse precedence. Benefit of this last would be to show the lower ranks the full pomp and circumstance of the higher ranks. Decision of which order is to be used belongs to the Coronet.
- Based on the number of combatants and inspirations in the list and the desires of the Prince, determine how the entrants should line up once they have presented themselves. Let them all know ahead of time so the ceremony won't have to be interrupted by directions to shuffle the line ups to make more space.
- If the Heavy Champion is entering the List, place his inspiration at the front of the line. Once he has presented Boars Tooth to the Prince, he will move to join her. Ensure he is aware of this direction.
- Discuss with Prince if he wants Combatants to go immediately to the List table after Challenges or whether he wants them all to wait so that all may see the Challenges that are given. Ensure Combatants are informed of which direction prior to start of ceremony.

Tournament Officials:

- Ensure all tournament officials (marshals, eric heralds and runners, waterbearers, etc) are arranged in their march order with tabards (if they desire and have them) and/or office banners. Tournament Officers will follow the combatants.
- Tournament Officials shall be introduced as a group by position rather than individual name. They shall be called up quickly (but with dignity). They shall come forward, reverence the thrones, be acknowledged and then leave the court area.

1.2 Acknowledgment of the Tanist and ban-Tanist

This ceremony should take place as soon after the Coronet tournament as convenient – usually about 10-20 minutes following the end of the finals. If this is to be the final court of the day, this shall always be the first item of business.

HERALD: Let all draw nigh for history has been made this day!

VICTOR and CONSORT, come now and kneel before Your Prince and Princess.

When they have arrived in court...

HERALD: Your Highnesses (and Your Majesties), by valour and skill did VICTOR, nobly promoting the honour of CONSORT, prove victorious in Your Coronet List this day. They come now before You swear their oaths and receive the honour which is their due.

PRINCE: VICTOR and CONSORT, do you understand the duties and responsibilities of the high and noble estate which you have won this day, and understand that in taking our place when we are done, that you will uphold the laws of Tir Righ and to serve its people?

VICTOR and CONSORT: I do.

PRINCE and PRINCESS take Spear of State from Heavy Champion and holds it level before them. VICTOR and CONSORT lay hands on the Spear as well.

PRINCE: Then swear to Us as your rightful Prince and Princess that you intend to execute these duties to the best of your ability, and that while you are our Heirs, you shall uphold the laws and traditions of the Principality of Tir Righ and the Kingdom of An Tir, until it comes time for you to ascend the Thrones.

VICTOR and CONSORT: I so swear.

PRINCE/PRINCESS: And we for Our part, do accept your oath, and return this fealty unto you Our Heirs; that We will honour the service you do in Our name; that We will support, protect, and defend you and your household with all Our Power, until the day that We pass the responsibility of Tir Righ onto you.

So say We, PRINCE, Prince Tir Righ

And so say We, PRINCESS, Princess Tir Righ.

PRINCE and PRINCESS hand Spear back to Champion and take Heir circlets from attendants. The PRINCE holds the Tanist circlet above VICTOR's head.

PRINCE: VICTOR, by your valour and skill, you have nobly advanced the honour of your inspiration, and arose victorious in Our Coronet List. We hereby acknowledge you as Our Heir and affirm your right to claim the coronets and thrones of Tir Righ when that time draws nigh.

I PRINCE, Prince of Tir Righ, proclaim you VICTOR, Tanist of the Principality of Tir Righ.

PRINCE places circlet on TANIST's head.

PRINCESS: CONSORT, by your (grace and beauty / nobility and wisdom), you have inspired your champion to victory, and I hereby acknowledge your right to rule these lands.

PRINCESS hands the ban-Tanist's circlet to the TANIST.

TANIST, take this token of estate to bestow upon your inspiration.

TANIST: CONSORT, by this symbol let all know that you were truly the inspiration for my victory this day, and let none doubt that you shall rule as surely as I. Share this honour with me, as ban-Tanist of the Principality of Tir Righ.

TANIST places circlet on BAN-TANIST's head

The new Tanist and Ban Tanist stand and face the populace.

HERALD: Three cheers for TANIST and BAN-TANIST, Tanist and ban-Tanist of Tir Righ!

1.3 The Blue Spear and Blue Lily

The herald shall call forth the other finalist and inspiration.

HERALD:        FINALIST and INSPIRATION, the Crown commands your presence.

And when they have knelt, the PRINCESS shall present the finalist with the token of the Blue Spear, saying:

PRINCESS:    FINALIST, you have fought with great skill and valour this day. In remembrance of your prowess and bravery, We bestow upon you the Blue Spear. Bear this token as a reminder to all of the mastery and honour you have shown this day.

And to the inspiration of the finalist:

PRINCESS:    INSPIRATION, you have inspired your champion to great honour this day. We bestow upon you the Blue Lily. Receive this symbol of your inspiration and Our esteem.

The herald will exhort the cheers of the populace for the recipients as they take their leave.

1.4 Investiture of the Prince and Princess

1.4.1 Claiming the Coronets

HERALD: As unceasing as the wind over the waves is the flow of time and history; and down through the marching ages has the Line of Tir Righ come. From the Cradle of the Kingdoms, the Eternal West, and by the breath of the mighty Lion of An Tir was born the Principality of the Argent Star. And now, in honour of ancient custom and tradition do we gather once more to witness the flow of Tir Righ's history and lore.

In faithfulness to the laws of this Principality on the DAY of MONTH, Anno Societatis YEAR, did Prince PRINCE and Princess PRINCESS call forth to grand tournament all those in their lands who felt worthy to vie for honour of the Throne of Tir Righ. And upon that day of grace did TANIST, for the honour of BAN-TANIST, stand victorious over all others.

PRINCE: Let TANIST and BAN-TANIST come forth.

TANIST and BAN-TANIST (and attendants if desired) come forward, stopping at a respectful distance into the forecourt and give reverence.

TANIST: Your Highnesses, by right of victory in the Coronet Lists, We lay claim to the Coronet and Thrones of Tir Righ.

PRINCE: The words our herald did speak represent the history of this land.
We hear and recognize your claim as the heirs to the thrones of Tir Righ.
However you must validate this assertion by having those amongst the populace show their undying support for you and your consort.

TANIST: Your Highnesses;
Our claim is just
and we shall meet your demands.
I call forth KNIGHT,
a Companion of the Order of Chivalry to validate our claim.

KNIGHT: As a representative of the Order of Chivalry, I vow that TANIST and BAN-TANIST's claim is valid.

to show support for our claim.

PELICAN: As a representative of the Order of the Pelican, I vow that TANIST and BAN-TANIST's claim is valid.

PRINCE: Having heard the words of the peers and champions of this realm
it is evident that the winds of change are upon us.
Come forth and receive what is rightfully yours.

Section 2: The Champions

2.1 The Heavy Champion

(The Scourge of Tir Righ)

2.1.1 The Invocation of the List

(If multiple Champion lists are invoked in the same court, only read the opening two paragraphs once.)

HERALD: In the vast land of Tir Righ are found those dedicated to bringing the world of past ages alive. Through a constant, unending quest to discover, practice and teach those crafts and trades of life long forgotten, these dedicated gentles reach deep into the pages of history and draw forth a world where the arts of war and the arts of peace lived and breathed.

And of those gentle nobles, there are those who would step forward to stand at the side of their Prince and Princess and advise them in times of peace and defend them in times of war, who would exemplify the great honour and chivalry of the Court of Tir Righ, who would willingly seek the grave responsibility of accepting the mantle and burden of Champion.

Let all who would contest for the title of Heavy Champion of Tir Righ come now and present themselves before Their Highnesses.

If the current Champion is entering the lists:

The person who carries this title is sworn to uphold the duties of this office, that whenever Their Highnesses marshal Their forces, there shall Their Champion be to battle at Their side, and to defend the Coronet and The Principality of Tir Righ against all who would take up arms against Them.

This is a grave responsibility, not to be undertaken lightly, for even as the Champion takes their place in Court at Their Highnesses' side, they must know that by their deeds they show forth the honour and chivalry of that court and this Principality to all the known world.

And know too, that should Their Highnesses be prevented from completing Their reign, it is the Champion which must bear the burden of ruling until a true successor to the Throne is chosen.

And so, understanding the position for which you compete, harken now to the words of your Prince and Princess.

When Their Highnesses have completed any inspirational words, They take the Spear of State and hold it before them. Entrants lay hands on the Spear, or on the shoulders of those before them.

ENTRANTS: I so swear.

2.3 The Archery Champion (The Scorer of Tir Righ)

2.3.1 The Invocation of the List

(If multiple Champion lists are invoked in the same court, only read the opening two paragraphs once.)

HERALD: In the vast land of Tir Righ are found those dedicated to bringing the world of past ages alive. Through a constant, unending quest to discover, practice and teach those crafts and trades of life long forgotten, these dedicated gentles reach deep into the pages of history and draw forth a world where the arts of war and the arts of peace lived and breathed.

And of those gentle nobles, there are those who would step forward to stand at the side of their Prince and Princess and advise them in times of peace and defend them in times of war, who would exemplify the great honour and chivalry of the Court of Tir Righ, who would willingly seek the grave responsibility of accepting the mantle and burden of Champion.

Let all who would contest for the title of Archery Champion of Tir Righ come now and present themselves before Their Highnesses.

If the current Champion is entering the lists:

CHAMPION: Your Highnesses, it is my desire to enter the Lists this day. May I have your permission to do so?

PRINCE: You may. Thank you, Champion.

The Champion removes the symbols of office, hands them to the Prince, and joins the entrants.

HERALD: CHAMPION, Archery Champion of Tir Righ, step forward.

PRINCE: Rapier Champion, what are the conventions of combat that shall be observed in these Lists?

The Champion informs the list and populace of tournament style, competition conventions, rules of the list, and anything else the entrants may need to know.

HERALD: Today you enter the lists to vie for the honour of Champion of Tir Righ. The person who carries this title is sworn to uphold the duties of this office, that whenever Their Highnesses marshal Their forces, there shall Their Champion be to battle at Their side, and to defend the Coronet and The Principality of Tir Righ against all who would take up arms against Them.

This is a grave responsibility, not to be undertaken lightly, for even as the Champion takes their place in Court at Their Highnesses' side, they must know that by their deeds they show forth the honour and chivalry of that court and this Principality to all the known world.

And so, understanding the position for which you compete, harken now to the words of your Prince and Princess.

When Their Highnesses have completed any inspirational words, They take the Spear of State and hold it before them. Entrants lay hands on the Spear, or on the shoulders of those before them.

HERALD: Do each of you now swear that should you be victorious this day, you will fulfill the obligations of the Archery Champion of Tir Righ; that you will abide by the Laws of this Principality, that you will swear fealty to the Prince and Princess of Tir Righ, obeying Their lawful commands for the length of your service to Them, and that to the utmost of your ability will bear yourself with the honour and chivalry, virtue and loyalty that mark a Champion of Tir Righ?

ENTRANTS: I so swear.

HERALD: Then, upon pain of expulsion from this competition, let each of you show by your skill and strength alone the worth and virtue of your deeds.

Rise now and make yourselves ready for competition, letting the work of your bow prove you worthy of the honour you seek.

so long as We remain Sovereigns of Tir Righ.

So say We, PRINCE, Prince Tir Righ

And so say We, PRINCESS, Princess Tir Righ.

And here the herald shall exhort the cheers of the populace, as the new officer withdraws.

3.2 Investiture of Heralds

Note: This ceremony is only to be used to invest heralds who have not previously been invested and baptised as a titled Herald. Previously titled Heralds, junior heralds, and Pursuivants should be made using the ceremony “3.1 Changeover of Officers”.

HERALD:            OUTGOING HERALD, come now into Their Highness’ court.

And when he has arrived, he shall say:

OUTGOING HERALD:    Your Highness’, I have come to resign my office of HERALDIC TITLE, and do here surrender unto You these symbols of my former office. I recommend unto your Highnesses NEW HERALD as my successor in Your service.

And here he renders up his cloak, tabard and/or staff of office.

PRINCE:            We thank you for your service to Our Principality, and wish you success in your future efforts.

Here the Coronet shall give him leave to depart, and the herald shall exhort the cheers of the populace for the out-going Herald. (Outgoing herald may also stay to witness investiture of new herald.)

HERALD:            It was the custom in times past that persons named to an Office of Arms be invested in that office by solemn and fitting ceremony, and we today continue that tradition according to the Laws and Customs of Tir Righ. NEW HERALD, Their Highnesses command your presence.

And when the NEW HERALD has arrived:

HERALD:            Would all members of the College of Heralds of Tir Righ and An Tir; herald, pursuivant or cornet; in-ordinary, extra-ordinary or at-large, please come forward to witness this ceremony.

And when the heralds have all arrived:

HERALD:            NEW HERALD, Their Highnesses PRINCE and PRINCESS, Prince and Princess of Tir Righ are minded to name you HERALDIC TITLE. Will you accept the responsibilities and honor of this office in their court?

NEW HERALD: I am.

HERALD: Are you then prepared to take the Oath of Arms?

NEW HERALD: I am.

Their Highnesses hold out the Spear of State, the new Herald grips shaft. Alternately, the new herald may choose another symbol to swear on, such as the coronet.

HERALD: Do you swear that you will ever be true to the Coronets of Tir Righ and to your undoubted liege lord and lady, the Prince and Princess of Tir Righ; and further, that you will honor all lords and ladies of this Realm?

NEW HERALD: I so swear.

HERALD: Do you swear that you will bear yourself thoughtfully, sedately, discreetly, keeping all secrets save only treason against the Crown and your Principality; that you will seek out and report worshipful deeds; that you will be ever ready to commend and loath to blame in all your dealings?

NEW HERALD: This I swear.

HERALD: Will you preserve to the best of your ability the rights and privileges of the Office of Arms, to make known to your fellows any deeds of arms, feasts, tournaments, jousts and other assemblies of honor at which they may be able to acquire thanks, honor and profit, sharing truly the goods and gifts coming from this noble Office of Arms?

NEW HERALD: I so swear.

HERALD: Do you also swear that you will faithfully participate in the activities of the Tir Righ College of Heralds, and continue diligent in the study and practice of the science of arms, pledging your knowledge to the service of the Storm Thrones and people of Tir Righ?

NEW HERALD: All this do I swear.

Then shall the Prince or Princess take a cup of water, and pouring it over the head of the candidate, saying:

PRINCE / PRINCESS: Then henceforth be known as HERALDIC TITLE in Tir Righ.

Giving the new Herald a full cup to drink:

PRINCE / PRINCESS: Drink deep to seal the oath that you have taken this day, and keep this cup as token of your pledge.

[IF AVAILABLE] Here shall an escutcheon of Office be placed about the neck of the new Herald, the court herald saying:

HERALD: Wear this badge as token of your rank within the College of Arms.

And if there is a tabard, it shall be given now. If the Herald has not been titled before then the tabard shall be placed over his head athwart (the front over the right shoulder) and 'turned' clockwise until it comes around to its' proper positioning.

HERALD: Bear this tabard as symbol of your office within the College of Heralds of Tir Righ.

Section 4: Awards & Orders

4.1 Kingdom Awards

4.2 The Order of the Raven of Tir Righ

The Order of the Raven of Tir Righ is awarded once per reign, to the person who embodies the ideals of the Society and the Principality of Tir Righ. This is usually a very personal award, and a scroll should always be available. However, many Ravens of Tir Righ were awarded objects onto which the words were inscribed, and do not lend themselves to being read by a herald. Please ensure that the words for the scroll are available.

In AS 49, Princess Lenora the Second asked that a ceremony be created, and what follows was the result of this. Although it currently reads “HERALD”, Princess Lenora spoke these words herself.

HERALD: In the Year of Our Society 42, did Prince Ulfr the Fourth and Princess Caiomhe create the Order of the Raven of Tir Righ, and made Thegn Einar Guntharson the premier of this order. Membership is given only once during a reign, and is the highest honour that the Prince and Princess can bestow.

Like the Lions of An Tir, the Ravens of Tir Righ are those people who embody and exemplify the ideals and spirit of the Principality of Tir Righ. They set an example for us all to follow, inspire us, and by their deeds, enrich our Society.
